FAYETTE WILL GO REPUBLICAN 2,000 VOTES, WILLIAMS SAYS.

Republican County Chairman Says the Entire Ticket Will Be Elected in This County Tomorrow.

THE KEYSTONE PARTY CLAIMS

Run From 1,000 to 1,700 While the Democrats Are Not Making Any Estimates—Situation at Close of the Campaign in Fayette.

John P. Williams, Republican County Chairman, John K. Fener will carry Fayette County by a plurality of at least 2,000. This is my conservative prediction. I believe the entire Republican State, Congressional, Senatorial and legislative, will win.

We Russell Carr, Democratic County Chairman, don't care what predictions are made. Our guesses are worthless. However, I feel that Webster Gifford has made a good, clean canvass and deserves to win. Our entire party is strong and clean, and I believe will be successful.

J. W. Dawson, Keystone County Chairman—it is pretty hard to tell. Penn information at my hotel tells Berry will carry Fayette County by a plurality as high as 1,700. Conditions are mixed so much that I am not prepared to make a guess on the rest of the Keystone ticket.

Republican Ticket.
Governor—John K. Fener.
Lieutenant Governor—John M. Heywood.
Secretary International Affairs—Henry Heywood.
Hegeman County Ticket.
Congress—Thomas S. Craig.
State Senate—William R. Crow.
Unontown, Pa.
Legislature—First District—Peter J. Gifford.
Second District—John S. Carroll, Harry G. Hornell and David D. Johnson.

Chairman Williams estimates that Fayette county will give a plurality of 2,000 for the Republican ticket. This estimate is based on reports from district leaders and Central Committee men who have made a careful canvass of the precincts. The Keystone party managers in Fayette claim tomorrow's result will give 1,600 to 1,700 for the head of their ticket, William H. Berry. The Democratic campaign managers are not making any claims. They profess to believe that Webster Gifford, the gubernatorial candidate, will poll the normal Democratic vote. They also hope the candidates for Assembly and State Senate will benefit from whatever Berry sentiment there is in the county. While enthusiastic Berry supporters confidently argue that the Keystone party will run at least second in the county, close political observers among the Republicans and Democrats are confident that the Democrats will capture one of the two doubtful parties.

Republican leaders and old time members of the party feel satisfied that the success of the party tomorrow is assured. Nowhere in the county have there been defections in the party organization. There has been no factional strife, no evidence of unrest among the ranks that would indicate party weakness. District leaders have reported from all points in the county that they will return the usual substantial Republican majority tomorrow night. Republican districts will have every worker out and they promise to demonstrate that it is the election day vote that counts, not the straw vote or the opinion of citizens whose enthusiasm for so-called reformer leads them to make extravagant claims.

A conspicuous feature of the campaign in Fayette, considering the fact that it has been the liveliest and bitterest waged in many years in Pennsylvania, has been the lack of activity on the surface. The Republican and Democratic campaigns have been quiet to the point of dullness. Keystone speakers have held many meetings throughout the county, at none of which has there been such a show of enthusiasm or attendance as would give the Berryites legitimate basis for the favorable showing they say they will make tomorrow. The Democratic candidate for Assembly have attended and taken part in many of these meetings hoping to swing the full or partial support of the Keystone side their way. In this, however, all the indications are that a disappointment is in store. They may, and likely will be going falling off in the vote for the head of the Republican ticket in Fayette, but that the Republican legislative ticket will not suffer is predicted by those closely identified with the party.

Berry sentiment in Fayette appears to be confined to the independent class of voters in both parties. They lack organization and have no concerted aim to get votes at the polls. All their hopes are based on a hysterical appeal to the voter to walk up and cast his ballot for a ticket which they seem to think will bring about a revolution in Pennsylvania politics whence great blessings will flow. These brilliant leaders say this is a sound and improbable conclusion born of political inexperience. The loyalty of the rank and file of Republican voters in this county is above suspicion. The latter are satisfied with the conduct of public affairs in Pennsylvania in tomorrow's election the vote of the average earner will predominate. They have no complaint to make of Republican administration, on the whole they are satisfied with the choice of the Republican and Democratic parties for their gubernatorial candidates, and so far as they are concerned the city of "Reform" will fall on unchanged ears. At least that is the full expectation of the Republican managers.

Much is promised tomorrow from the interest the churches have taken in this campaign in behalf of Berry and the other candidates on the Keystone ticket. Its fulfillment is Fayette is not seriously considered, mainly because previous elections have demonstrated that political advice from the pulpit is not heeded on election day by sufficient numbers of churchgoers to cause a landslide. As a matter of fact, religion and politics have not much in common in Fayette county, and most citizens resent pastoral interference.

On the legislative ticket, Senator W. E. Crow will have a walk over for re-election. Besides polling practically the full Republican vote he will get a flattering vote from the Democrats. It is quite likely that he will take the ticket. John S. Carroll, Harry G. Hornell, D. D. Johnson and Peter J. Gifford, the Republican candidates for Assembly, have made a thorough canvass of the county and are satisfied that they will be returned winners by majorities that will be little, if any, below normal.

Or the two big towns in the county, Connellsville and Unontown, the former will probably make a better showing for the Republican ticket. Unontown has been the hotbed of Berry sentiment in Fayette. All the local Keystone activity manifested has emanated from there. Several attorneys formerly prominent in the Democratic and Republican parties have identified themselves with the new party and have been active in spreading the Berry propaganda. Then too, the Unontown voters generally are perhaps more susceptible to changes in the political atmosphere than those in Connellsville. The leaders of the movement possibly hope for preferment at the hands of a new administration, and many others above the average Fayette voter in intelligence are ever ready to turn out the party in power. Connellsville, Republican workers said this morning, will give Tener from 300 to 500 majority, while the balance of the Republican ticket will have 600 or better.

Col. T. S. Craig, Republican candidate for Congress in this district, will have easy sailing. Somerset and Fayette counties will give him handsome Republican vote, while in Greene, his home county, Colonel Craig will take a flattering vote from the Democrats. Jesse H. Wise, the Democratic Congressional nominee, has made a fresh canvass of the district on a free platform. At no time has his opposition to Colonel Craig been taken seriously. By questionable methods he secured a Keystone endorsement, a fact that has been pretty thoroughly advertised, and which went to the benefit of Colonel Craig. In Fayette county Colonel Craig has the support of the Berryites and the same is true in Somerset. Colonel Craig will be elected to Congress to-morrow.

The Courier to Receive Returns Tomorrow Night

The Courier has arranged with the United Press to receive the returns from the State elections tomorrow. These returns will be sent over the leased wire of the United Press which runs direct to The Courier office and all the facilities of that big news gathering organization will be at the disposal of this paper.

THE CONSTITUTION AND THE PEOPLE is the best and wisest platform for all good citizens to stand upon; and, in the midst of Pennsylvania's Political Forest, standing upright and steadfast upon this platform, we venture to make some timely suggestions which we hope will be regarded as sensible, sane and safe. We hold these truths to be self-evident:

THAT the Protective Tariff has developed Pennsylvania's natural resources in the highest degree and in the greatest measure promoted Pennsylvania's prosperity;

THAT under this Republican policy, the mines and ovens, the mills and factories of Pennsylvania, have given steady employment to armies of workingmen at the best wages in the world;

THAT under the operation of Democratic Tariff legislation, these industries will have for the most part been smokeless and silent;

THAT the Republican party has made mistakes and Republican organizations have sometimes curbed very independence with vigor and spur, but that Republican policies have made the people prosperous and happy while Democratic experiences have been universally disastrous;

THAT, in the name of Civic Virtue, the Republican opposition in this campaign would sacrifice the common welfare on the altar of sectional politics;

THAT this opposition may plead and palaver, rant and rave, but it cannot cover up, or blot out, or divert public attention from the imminent peril; nor can its orators and organs successfully deny that the defeat of the Republican party in this campaign will invite a repetition of the unhappy experiences referred to;

THAT Democrats may sneer and

If the Coal Wagon Drivers Come Out Elevators Will Not Run Nor Will Steam Radiators Sizzle—Taxicab Drivers Strike for "Closed Shop."

United Press Telegram.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The joint executive council of the local unions affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, went into session today determined to force peace with the big express companies or to tie up every wheel in the greater city and surrounding towns. As a forerunner of what may be expected, 1,000 drivers of taxicabs and more than half the delivery wagons employed by Park & Tilford did not report for work this morning.

Other drivers were ordered to hold themselves in readiness for the word to quit. The fight of the men is now being directed by Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, who has established headquarters in the Hotel Victoria. Not in years has this city faced a situation so fraught with danger as at present. If a general strike is ordered the first place to be tied up will be the big coal delivery yards. These supply the coal which keeps the big downtown skyscrapers with the fuel for running and heating purposes. Incidentally, the coal wagon drivers are a hasty bunch that can be depended on to keep police busy in case they take it into their heads to pull strike-breakers from the wagons. The drivers, drivers of mail, and city garbage and ash collecting wagons, are all well organized and can be ordered out on strike.

The strike of the taxicab charrmers was decided on to enforce closed shop conditions. There are 3,000 union charrmers in the city but those called out were only the ones employed by concerns that do not recognize the union seriously. By questionable methods he secured a Keystone endorsement, a fact that has been pretty thoroughly advertised, and which went to the benefit of Colonel Craig. In Fayette county Colonel Craig has the support of the Berryites and the same is true in Somerset. Colonel Craig will be elected to Congress to-morrow.

The police guards have been sent to all the garages to prevent disorder. The express wagons of the big companies were moving through the city today with inscriptions on them reading: "This wagon is engaged in interstate commerce only."

Through this sign the company planned to get around the decision of the city authorities that every driver must have a city license. Incidentally it was reported that the express companies expected in case of strike to call on the Federal government for protection.

Accidentally Shot by Hunters. BEAVERSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 7.—(Special)—While Mrs. George Jenkins and her daughter, Mary, were driving home from Brownsville Saturday afternoon, near the Howard Wallace farm, Miss Jenkins was injured in the left forearm by a load of shot fired by some persons who were hunting on the Wallace farm.

LEST WE FORGET.

REPUBLICANS may smirch, but the light of Experience is the best guide to the footsteps of people treading the uncertain paths of the future.

LEST WE FORGET the painful lessons of the past, let us picture again the Dark Days of 1893. The Plague of Political Unrest, sporadic now, had been epidemic then. It had swept the country, stifling Republican Protection and substituting Democratic Revision as a panacea for all the country's ills.

THE SCHOOL OF EXPERIENCE is harsh but thorough. Those of us who have graduated are competent to advise those who have not. Recalling the facts of the Connellsville coke region's history, we deem it a solemn duty to voice this note of protest and warning against the EMOTIONAL INSANITY which urges the Pennsylvania voter to commit INBUSTRIAL SUICIDE at the polls tomorrow.

DOVER, England, Nov. 7.—Within stone's throw of safety 30 of the members of the crew of the five-masted schooner Prussian, the largest sailing vessel in the world, are dashed to the rigging of their vessel with great waves washing over them and threatening to drown them.

Life boats and staunch sailing vessels brave the gale and are hovering nearby, but would be dashed to pieces if they would attempt to go alongside.

The storm shows no signs of abating and is not believed the men will be much longer. They have been in their exposed position 30 minutes.

Along the shore thousands of persons have gathered to watch the dramatic scene, and though every man is willing to risk his life to save the imperiled mariners, not one can turn a hand. The Prussian, a German-managed vessel, early Sunday collided in the Channel with the steamship Brighton. Neither ship seemed seriously damaged, the Brighton nudging port under her own steam.

Nothing more was heard of the Prussian until she was dashed on the rocks at South Foreland and it is surmised that her steering gear was disabled by the collision. For hours in the surf, tiny life boats braved the storm in an effort to take off the crew. Life lines were cast from the shore but for some unaccountable reason the crew failed to make them fast.

The great ship is now breaking up. From the shore the sailors can be seen clinging to the rigging with the waves breaking over them. The Prussian was built in 1902 and is not only the largest but also the fastest sailing ship afloat.

"You deserve the support of every union man in New York State in this campaign as all your just records show you have been their best friend at all times. You can give this letter to the press."

COURT HALTS THE BALTIMORE & OHIO.

Grants injunction restraining laying of tracks in Uniontown.

SOLICITOR SHELBY ACTIVE

Secures injunction by which work is stopped. Claiming permission was not asked of borough and dispensing right to proceed.

Special to the Courier.

UNION TOWNSHIP, Nov. 7.—At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen granted a preliminary injunction against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, on portion of the Borough of Uniontown, restraining them from proceeding with the laying of an additional track on Willow avenue.

Borough Solicitor S. Ray Shelby prepared the bill in equity and presented it at chambers. The writ was issued about 5 o'clock that day. An injunction bond in the sum of $700 was filed with Attorney H. F. Dotwiler as surety. The defendants are held to be about to lay an additional track through Uniontown on Willow avenue in the McClelland, Playford and Doyle addition. The borough acts forth that they have expended money in improvement of this street and has a sewer laid thereon.

It is claimed that the work of grading for the track has already been commenced by the defendant, and they have not secured or attempted to secure from the plaintiff any authority or permission to do so. The borough holds that the defendant has no legal right to enter upon Willow street, and that the laying of the track will damage the sewer and be greatly injurious to the rights of the public, working irreparable injury and damage to the residents.

Clerk E. Bradley, a resident of Uniontown, filed the injunction affidavit. The hearing has been set for November 10, at 2 o'clock.

Charles Nelson was appointed minority inspector in Laurelton No. 2 in place of T. F. Vernon. Vernon says it will be impossible for him to serve.

Before Judge Van Swearingen this morning the equity proceeding of Isaac Burford, a Uniontown iron merchant, against the Taylor Coal & Coke Company, was taken up. The entire morning was given over to taking testimony. Burford claims to have a mercantile license to sell in any part of the State and alleges that the coal company refuses to allow him on its premises. He recently brought a like suit against W. J. Ryman.

A statement of claim was filed at noon by Petrelle McAllester against the Scottdale Finance Company. Damages in the sum of $100 were claimed to have been caused by blighting opposite his property along Jacobs creek. He averred that large cattails fell through the roof of his home.

MANY SERMONS WERE PREACHED ON POLITICS IN THE CHURCHES HERE

But many refrained from casting ballots in a straw vote that was taken.

Politics provided the basis for most of the sermons preached from the pulpits here yesterday, and a number of ministers devoted considerable time to this subject. In one church a straw vote was taken at the morning service, but although the congregation was one of the largest of the year, only 26 men availed themselves of an opportunity to "vote."

For the most part the ministers limited themselves to urging their hearers to vote according to the dictates of their consciences. Yesterday afternoon there was a temperance meeting in the Methodist Episcopal church which was addressed by Attorney D. M. Hartley of Uniontown and others.

The club will meet every two weeks at the homes of the members and the evening will be spent in doing fancy work. A $10.00 work was laid aside and a dimes fund was served.

The Dunbar High School Literary Society, organized last Friday afternoon in the assembly room of the building. A very interesting literary program was rendered, consisting of recitations, orations, blueprints and poetry. One of the features of the meeting was the poem written by Minnie Miller on "Albert," which was most forcibly delivered. The school periodical which was edited by William Jobe was the most interesting feature of the meeting.

Many interesting and profitable meetings were read from the paper by the editor. The debate, "Resolved, That more good can be accomplished by prose than by poetry." The debaters were, Alfonso, 109; John Lewis, 110; S. C. McRae, 108; John Davis and Marie Parker.

The debate was decided in favor of the affirmative. The subject for open discussion brought before the society was, "Resolved, That William the Conqueror was a great ruler." The society adjourned to meet on Friday, November 13, and will be in charge of the Dunbarian division of the society.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Young Ladies Home Circle will be held Tuesday evening, November 8, at the Hotel P. H. Hall. All the members are cordially invited to attend. At the close of the meeting, punch will be served.

THE MENACE OF THE KEYSTONE REVOLT.

The Republican wing of the Keystone party is an organized revolt against the leadership of Senator Boles Penrose. John K. Tener only an ex-candidate.

The Democratic wing of the Keystone party is an organized revolt against the leadership of Colonel James Madison Goffey by the Bryan element. William H. Berry is only an incident.

Both leaders are denounced as bosses by those who seek leadership for themselves. The latter call it reform, and so it is for the time being, but once in power they become no worse than the evildoers become Reformers. It is the history of politics.

The Republicans who have joined the Keystone movement have possibly persuaded themselves, and are certainly trying to persuade the people, that the election of the Pennsylvania State ticket tomorrow has no relation to the Republican policy of Protection and will consequently have no effect upon the business situation.

It may not, but the movement is full of menace, and its ultimate effect will depend entirely upon the Keystone vote and how it is cast. The Keystone nominations, unlike those of the Republican and Democratic parties, are in no sense popular nominations. They have been made either by a rump convention composed of self-appointed delegates, or a bunch known as the executive committee, or by nomination papers signed by voters regardless of their party affiliations.

The result is that nearly all the Keystone nominees for Congress and the Legislature are Democrats. It is so in Fayette County, with but a single exception. The Democrats have clung on the Keystone wagon with scarcely a murmur of protest on the part of the drivers and in utter disregard of the wishes of the restless political nags who are pulling it.

If the Keystone ticket should receive a large vote it is within the bounds of possibility that enough of these Democratic candidates will be elected to materially aid in changing the Republican majority in Congress. Though remote, it is possible that even the Pennsylvania Legislature might elect a Democratic Senator.

The results at Washington are summed up in the declaration of Champ Clark, the leader of the Democrats in the House: "FIRST WE WILL REDUCE THE TARIFF TO A REVENUE BASIS."

This is the same Tariff-for-Revenue which brought disaster and suffering upon the Connellsville coke region and the country in the three years from 1890 to 1896. Do we want it again? If not, WHY INVITE IT?

WISE AND CRAGO.

AND WHAT THEY STAND FOR.

By his own confession, Jesse Hook Wise is "an independent and fearless fighter." It must be admitted that he has not failed to freely discuss in manner direct and definite if not lucid and intelligent, almost every political issue raised in this campaign, not to mention others in which he proudly claims as the children of his brain. He has talked on everything from Pure Politics and the American Boy down to Low Tariff and High Living, but whether he has been the holding of course, or the recklessness of those who walk where angels fear to tread, is doubtful in the minds of the intelligent voters of the district, which he is willing to represent in Congress.

He undertaken, in one of his famous disquisitions issued from his Pittsburgh headquarters, to prove that the High Cost of Living led to the Republican Tariff. He method of proof is startling in its simplicity. He compares the cost of a certain line of groceries in 1906 with their cost in 1909, and finds that what we now pay, Jan. 1st, for what we could have bought then, for $2.76.

This may be true, but the people have more money now to buy groceries than they had in 1906. This was the last year of President Cleveland's Tariff Reform administration. The Wilson bill had been passed and in active operation for several years. It had succeeded in closing down about two-thirds of the coke ovens of the Connellsville region and in the production of all other American industries. Wages were low and work was scarce. The cost of living expressed in dollars was lower low, but compared with the average income of the citizen it was much higher than it is now.

Statesman Wise would restore the condition of the four years from 1903 to 1907. He would not only reduce the price of groceries and the wages of labor, but he would close the mines and open the song houses; he would reorganize the Army of the Unemployed and march it to the gates of misery and desperation; in the name of Pure Politics, he would invite Poverty and Desolation to the American home.

Candidate Wise accuses Colonel Crago of standing for the present Tariff, and the latter will probably admit the soft impeachment without hesitation. Like all other honest Republicans, he approves the principle of the bill without approving all its details. It is admitted that the Payne-Aldrich bill contains some inequities incident to the impossibility of coming to an agreement on anything else because of the conflicting demands of the representatives of different districts each representing the insolent demands of his constituents, but these inequities will be gradually and surely righted by the Tariff Commission.

Candidate Wise tells the people that Colonel Crago is "Boss Penrose's candidate." Colonel Crago was nominated by the Republicans of this district without the suggestion or support of Senator Penrose or any other influence outside of the district. At Washington, he will represent his constituents, and not any other political interest; and he will represent this district with much more dignity and ability than the Democratic candidate could possibly bring to the task.

There is, therefore, no good reason why any Republican, or any Keystonian, should not vote for Colonel Crago, but every good reason why they should; the former, because he represents their constituents, and the latter for the reason that Wise failed the Keystone nomination against the protest of the Keystone Executive Committee by the filing of fraudulent nomination papers, signed chiefly by Green county Democrats who are not members of the Keystone party and have no intention of voting the ticket.

Colonel Crago stands pat for Protection and Prosperity and against the Wilson bills and Want. Vote for Crago!

CITY GOVERNMENT.A NON-PARTISAN ISSUE.

And the heat and burden of a strenuous and complicated political campaign, the voters of Connellsville, irrespective of party lines and local affiliations, should not forget the fact that they are called on to determine whether they desire third class city government, or whether they prefer to remain as they are under a herculean form of government; in other words, whether they desire to progress in government and importance or whether they prefer to remain inert and indifferent to their inheritance which means a more efficient and economical government with better opportunities for promoting the advancement of the town than already a city save only in name.

The Courier has strongly advised the citizens of Connellsville to vote in favor of city government. The advice has at times been expressed in forcible terms. It is in every way we have. We believe in frank, full and fair expression of opinion couched in language that cannot be misconstrued or misinterpreted. We hope our deliverances have not been misunderstood. We have referred to local conditions in connection with this matter, but we have not meant, and we do not desire, to threaten anybody. Our policy is not one of coercion. We concede the right of every citizen to express his opinion by his vote. We merely exhort the right of a public newspaper to call attention to the possible results of political opposition to a measure which has no rightful connection with factions or parties, but which should be determined solely with relation to its effect upon the public welfare; and we may add that any politician who dares public sentiment as to what is the public welfare invites his own retirement to private life. We repeat that this is not a threat, but only a kindly warning, and we feel that we would be false to our trust if we failed to utter it.

The arguments in favor of third-class city government are overwhelming, and no serious attempt has been made to refute them. The testimony in favor of third-class city government is conclusive and convincing, and the people are ready to render a verdict in favor of it. The will of the people is supreme and those who oppose it do so at their peril.

We therefore, hope and believe that at attorney will be made tomorrow to index politics into this purely non-partisan proposition; and we do not express ourselves, not out of any fear of the results, but out of friendship for the interests involved.

BERRY AND TENER AND CIVIC RIGHTEOUSNESS.

No one knows William H. Berry better than his neighbors. In 1908, he ran for the Legislature on the Democratic ticket. He was defeated in every ward of the district, and some wards were Democratic wards. There's something the matter with Berry, it's NOT ALL RIGHT AT HOME. In striking contrast, we have the open endorsement by all the leading citizens of Charleroi without regard to their political affiliations of the candidacy of John K. Tener, whom they certify under their signature to be AN HONEST, UPRIGHT AND WORTHY CITIZEN, in spite of the efforts of muckraking journalists to snare his character.

It is difficult to understand why electors of this neighborhood should ever entertain the thought of supporting Berry as against Tener.

CHAIRMAN CARR'S LITTLE JOKE.

With a great flourish of trumpets, reminding one forcibly of the fanfare which ushered in a circus act, Chairman Carr of the Democratic County Committee and publishes prominently in the columns of the Connellsville News an intended account of his receipts and expenditures up to and including November 4th.

The account shows total receipts of $176; T. Bobb Boyce, $150; T. S. Luckey, $50; Robert Howard, $100; G. Chorpening, $100; others not named, $100. It will be noted that a candidate for the Legislature is the most liberal contributor and that Colonel Crago is the "boss-controlled burglar," and that he will be "an independent, fearless fighter." It looks as contrary to his New Democratic Nationalism to contribute more liberally.

The expenditures amount to $777, chief among which are $207 to the two Democratic-for-revenue-only organs for advertising and $143 for brass bands. This is evidently a campaign of organ and band music, and both have to be liberally paid for blowing.

Chairman Carr naively explains that "the balance on hand, and any other contributions which may be received, will be used for the purpose of hiring teams for the transportation of voters and the payment of small bills." The account is confessedly incomplete. "It will not be complete until after the election. MUCH MONEY MAY BE CONTRIBUTED IN THE INTERIM AND MUCH EXPENDED FOR PURPOSES THAT ARE UNLAWFUL."

Viewed in the light of practical politics the account is something of a joke.

A POLITICAL KEYNOTE NOT CONFINED TO OHIO.

Philander Chase Knox is not a politician in the ordinary acceptance of the term, but he is a statesman in the best and broadest sense of the term. He is a close observer of events and a keen analyst of the same. He makes few political speeches, but he never fails to strike a keynote that echoes throughout the length and breadth of the nation. He has made but one speech in this campaign. It was made in Ohio a few days ago. It may be summarized as follows:

The justly celebrated private platform of J. E. Hook Wise may be a new form of New Nationalism, but it isn't Old Democracy by a damn sight.

Colonel Crago is absorbing the Western population and towns think of getting out by induction.

English Justice is summary, especially with American defendants. Americans are safer at home, especially if they contemplate crime. If Doctor Clegg had been tried at home he would probably have pleaded conditional discharge and of trying to establish an alibi for the corpus delicti.

As usual, the Connellsville coke region is in its last gasp, and the mine rescue car follows.

Hunters should be protected against themselves, but it is difficult to figure out how to do it.

Colonel Huff has retired from Congress, but not from the activities of life, nor the hearts of his countrymen.

City Government is a non-partisan issue and should not be complicated with partisan politics.

Hickory timber is disappearing in the country, so don't delay, since there's no time to waste.

A writer in the Inevitable but certain New York Sun says that Tener is "a man of marked pluck and 77 inches of altitude." He might have added that Tener is a man of rectitude, due to the imposition of the maximum tariff. It is the largest cities of the world the markets of the United States on equal terms.

Resolute Pennsylvania Republicans are respectively invited to ponder well these statements and carefully consider whether it is wise or just to smite the hand that has protected them.

Board-and-bill skipping is a lively but dangerous business.

A prominent member of the Pittsburg Voters' League announces his determination to vote for Tener because of Berry's record and we have been told he believes that Berry was a paragon of virtue.

Vote with a cross-mark in the first column.

Jesse Hook Wise was once a cadet at West Point, under favor of his father who was over a member of Congress, but Jesse was never a soldier; Colonel Thomas S. Crago was never a cadet, but he was a soldier in the service of the United States. Wise pretends patriotism, Crago practices it. "Where do you stand?"

Portuguese political prisoners have reason to rejoice over the revolution it resolved them from incarceration to freedom.

The Terrible Treaty are not so numerous to the country as the Tariff Trustees. Don't be an amateur thinker by voting the Keystone ticket.

One gross-mark in the first square at the foot of the first column on the ballot will do the business properly tomorrow.

The Waynesburg Messenger indicates that some bad politicians are importing strong liquors into Greene county for election purposes. Whether it is politics or a bad cold doesn't seem to make any difference. One excuse is as good as another in a dry county.

Further mathematical demonstrations are useless. The people will do the sum tomorrow and there will be no more disputing about the result.

It seems that some people who have been accused of being against city government for Connellsville have been misquoted.

Tariff communities which have the most valuble contribution to political literature are the Free State. Wilson has discredited it as a list of the names in the 2nd Congressional District. It is about the only document intelligent voters have laid away for reference.

Don't forget to vote for City Government.

The effects of lava may be pleasing to the susceptible taste of Col. Roosevelt, but the value of New York are more important to him just now. With due deference to the political judgment of the Mighty Hunter, we are inclined to think that he has wasted ammunition in the West.

Jesse Hook Wise intimates that Colonel Crago will be "boss-controlled burglar," and that he will be "an independent, fearless fighter." It looks as contrary to his New Democratic Nationalism to contribute more liberally.

The auto-tope is becoming so popular in the South that the line is no longer drawn at the black man. Texas is turning Mexicans, too.

The Pope has a bad heart, not morally, but physically.

Vote for City Government - and Municipal Progress.

The average business man wants to prosper and his intelligence tells him that further distinctions of the business situation means depression and possible disaster. He also knows that the power of the Democratic party is somewhat overthrown, that franchises and timid capital and holds the property of all industrial communities. He will vote for his own interests by voting the Republican ticket.

Some of the striking New York experiments in labor legislation on the horizon. There is no reason for this in a country governed by law and under administration by the people.

Sam Gompers endorses Doc Black for President. John Dillen, whom Vice President Sherman calls a "national asset," to whom the Socialists have clouted his judgment of what is good for the workingmen of Western Pennsylvania and of all industrial communities.

It costs money to enact a cop in Connellsville. The dignity of the law should be upheld and the law should always remember that it should look dignified there is nothing to uphold.

The justly celebrated private platform of J. E. Hook Wise may be a new form of New Nationalism, but it isn't Old Democracy by a damn sight.

Colonel Crago is absorbing the Western population and towns think of getting out by induction.

English Justice is summary, especially with American defendants. Americans are safer at home, especially if they contemplate crime.

HOUSEWARMING AT SCOTTDALE FOR THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Many People of Mill Town and Vicinity Visited Building and New Keister Library on Friday and Saturday.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Nov. 7.—A great many people of this town and vicinity visited the new High school building and the Scottdale Free Public Library during the formal opening days Friday and Saturday. The housewarming ended on Saturday evening with appropriate exercises in connection with the giving and accepting of the library, which is the gift of A. L. Keister, President of the First National Bank and a member of the Board of Education for several years. Two rooms of the building have been given to the library's use for the next three years, and Miss Daisy Smith is the employed librarian. Since the schools, the library and public are connected up directly there should be a library patronage of the library, which is free to citizens, and may be enjoyed by those outside of town at a very nominal figure. The manifest a library patronage of the library, on Saturday night, and in fact both days, indicated that the people will be following the privilege up. A good start was made in giving out books today. The magnificent school building, for it is nothing short of magnificent in all its appointments, is not surprised in any town of Scottdale's size and approached in few. Ferns and palms were used to break stretches of corridor here and there and in the library caravans were given the lady visitors as souvenirs of the occasion. Barkell's orchestra attuned down scales played during the evening.

The exercises in connection with the library took place on the second floor in a study hall, which is fitted up for such gatherings. J. A. Barnhart, of the Library Trustees, was master of ceremonies. An invocation was delivered by Rev. R. B. Mansfield, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. Supervising Principal Landis Tuggey read a letter from A. L. Keister giving the library to the people. Mr. Keister was not present. He wrote that it had long been his desire to provide such a library and thanked the School Board for making it possible by giving the use of rooms in the building. The response on the part of the School Board was by Robert Stearn who said that the gift of a book is unlike any other gift in the world for the book is a gift with a soul as through books we communicate with the greatest of earth. He said that the schools accepted the gift with feelings of gratitude and a belief that the library will be of great good for everyone. M. L. Haasen, President of Council, accepted the gift in behalf of the Borough, appearing as Burgess R. P. Ellis could not be there on account of illness.

Rev. J. E. Hutchison, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, who is President of the Board of Library Trustees, spoke in behalf of the trustees. He sketched the life of the library up to this time, beginning with the occasion upon which Mr. Keister asked him to act as trustee for the library, through each successive step until that night when the library was given over to the uses of the public. He said that the work was new to every trustee, and incidentally paid a glowing tribute to George B. Shupe who was one of the first trustees, saying that the town and community had Surprise Party.

A very enjoyable party was given on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beagle on Third avenue in honor of their son, Howard. The party was in form of a surprise tag. Charles Shauer kept Mr. Beagle over town until the crowd gathered there went about houses on pretense of borrowing money. Upon opening the parlor door and seeing the crowd Mr. Beagle stood speechless. After looking around and seeing the Firemen's Drum Corps of which he is a member, he began to realize the boys had played a joke on him. After various games, mandolin and guitar music by Miss Mae Beagle, Regis Davis and Charles Shauer, supper was served. The guests departed at a late hour declaring the most enjoyable evening spent for some time. Among those present was Chief of Police Frank McChesney, Chief of Fire Department Ed McChesney, Charles Shupe, Harry Stoner, Jessie McChesney, Howard Minor, Harry White and Mr. Rollison.

Enthusiasm for Work Accomplished In East Huntingdon Twp. Schools

Special to The Courier.

ALVERTON, Nov. 7.—Not for many years have the teachers, Board of Directors and citizens of East Huntingdon township displayed such a manly enthusiasm over the work of the faculty and scholars as was manifested on Friday night last.

At about 8 o'clock the cars coming north and going south brought scholars and citizens from Tarr, Ruffdale, Scottdale and the outlying districts. After being received by the faculty and Township Principal they gathered in the auditorium room where Prof. Fausold announced the first selection of music and the program was on full blast.

Prof. Fausold made an excellent address in which he showed a keen realization of the momentous work and responsibility resting upon himself and his fellow teachers. His address ranged over faith and mathematical history and in every field he showed that he was well at home.

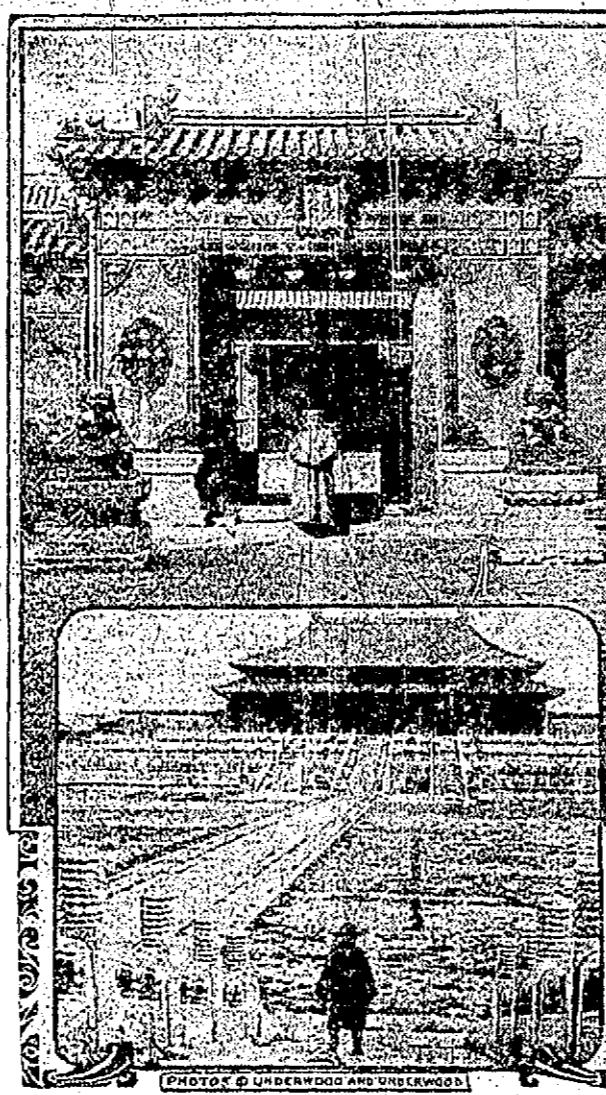

Miss Anna Duncan, who has graced the faculty of the High school here for a number of years, pleased the patrons with an excellent address in which she set forth the work of the school. She said three great things will be emphasized tonight. The large conception of the work; the bonds of cooperation, and the spirit of perseverance.

Prof. Durstine, "our modest teacher," pleased the audience with his brief word of appreciation. Rev. Wagner, the new pastor of the M. E. church made some fitting remarks.

Each of the directors had a short word to say. The main address of the evening was given by Rev. Wm. Harris Guyer on "Education by Abstraction." The address was such that the audience was lead over a great deal of past history which was suitably linked with the needs of today. It showed careful preparation and a wide range of study.

Following the addresses the visitors were served with some of the choicest fruits in the United States and the Carlo Tresca Gets Jail Sentence On a Charge of Criminal Libel.

Carlo Tresca, famed locally as defendant in the libel suit instituted by Rev. Joseph Di Sabato during 1908, has again appeared in the limelight, and in another libel suit. On Saturday, in Pittsburgh, Judge Thomas D. Carnahan imposed a sentence of $200 fine and costs and imprisonment of nine months in jail following Tresca's conviction of libeling Rev. Vincent Marinaro of Butler. As soon as sentence was pronounced an appeal to the Superior Court was taken.

A new trial was asked for because the defendant refused to testify that he believed in God, and was therefore not allowed to take the oath. At the trial Judge Carnahan had refused to let Tresca testify because he refused to answer that one question. Assistant District Attorney R. L. McCloskey opposed the motion, stating that the Supreme Court had held that a person who did not believe in God could not testify. The court refused to grant a re-hearing, on last Thursday.

Tresca has been sued a number of times for libelous articles and pictures in his Italian paper, "La Pobla." He has given as an excuse for the publication of the articles the statement his friends are said to have made to him when he arrived in this country: "America is free. You can publish anything here."

It will be remembered that Rev. Di Sabato of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church brought suit against the editor for libeling both himself and his housekeeper, Anna Portu. The case attracted a great deal of attention owing to the prominence of the parties involved. Both Tresca and his wife, Helga, were made defendants, and were alleged to have criminally libeled the presbyter when they published a picture in their paper showing Miss Portu in the arms of the priest. It was claimed that the picture had been "doctored" or made over.

After a two days trial at the December session of court, 1908, a compromise verdict was reached, Tresca admitting that he had libeled the housekeeper. The other defendants, including his wife and Nicolaundo Argiroino, a Main street shoemaker, James Maseno, a wholesale fruit dealer, and Thomas Galaso, former sexton of the church, were acquitted. The last three named were arrested in connection with the publication of the picture.

The editor paid all of the cost of his prosecution, while the balance of the costs were divided between Father Di Sabato and the defendants. On January 25, 1909, Tresca was sentenced by Judge Umbel to pay a fine of $200 and serve six months in the Allegheny workhouse.

The editor has also been the victim of a number of attacks made by his enemies. While out on bail awaiting sentence in Fayette county, he was stabbed in the back, while going to his office in Pittsburgh. The night before this affair, January 6th, Tresca had made a speech at Uniontown for the benefit of the earthquake sufferers. He claims to have been attacked in Pittsburgh, the day before sentence was pronounced at Uniontown, but escaped injury.

STEVE MECON, BADLY INJURED, SPENDS THE NIGHT IN THE LOCKUP

He Was Taken to the Hospital This Morning and Case Puzzles Physicians.

Steve Mecon was brought down from Indian Creek last evening suffering from some mysterious injury. His friends took him to the office of a local physician who suggested that he be taken to the lockup and attended by the borough physician. In spite of the protests of the men with him, the physician had Steve bundled off to the hospital where Chief of Police George Hetzel made him as comfortable as possible and summoned Dr. S. G. HENRY PORTER GETS MONEY

Nearly as Much as He Receives Was Spent on Education and Maintenance—Wants Sale of Real Estate
Revoked by Court—Other Orders.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Nov. 7.—A long session was held in Orphans' Court today at which Judge J. C. Work handed down a number of important orders.

In the estate of Henry A. Porter, minor son of Samuel and Mary F. Porter, Henry Goldsmith, the guardian, was directed to turn over the balance of the estate, amounting to $12,736.97. The ward became of age June 29, 1910, and at present is a student in the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Goldsmith's accounting showed no estate valued at twice the amount of the balance, but expenditures for education and maintenance have cut the sum down.

On petition of Mary M. Acklin, widow of Robert H. Acklin, a citation was directed issued on the Citizens Title & Trust Company of Uniontown and on James R. Arnsburg, Anna Blanche Arnsburg and Eliza V. Arnsburg directing them to show cause why the sale of real estate should not be set aside and purchase money returned. Robert Acklin died April 16, 1908, and directed certain portions of his property to be sold at once. His widow, the executrix, carried out the directions and sold, under order of the court, property in Laclede township for $5,125. She claimed the property was worth $9,000 and the purchasers were acquainted with the true value of the property.

The petition of the widow of Christian Haag, late of Upper Tyrone township, to have appraisers appointed to set aside the widow's exemption, was granted. Fred Fisher and G. W. Stauffer were appointed.

In the estate of Margaret A. Todd, the Fayette Title & Trust Company was appointed trustee of one-seventh of the estate, to be held in trust for a son, Harry. Samuel C. Todd, administrator, declined to act in the position.

Attorney A. E. Jones, guardian of Dorn J. Wirsing, a minor, was directed to draw $100.48 from the estate to pay debts.

The widow's apportionment of $300 in the estate of John R. Smith, late of lower Tyrone township, made by Albert V. Lynn and F. T. Francis, was approved.

On petition of Joseph T. Crossland, an order was made directing that the Balleck township property of Samuel Hillen, who died in Monell townships August 2, 1910, be sold. Total in the sum of $500 was required.

An order was made in the estate of Mary Rebecca Chalfant, who died at Connellsville January 17, 1910, allowing the Pittsburgh Dry Goods Company $84.25 on a book account. Elizabeth M. Reid $111.50 on a note and the Monongahela National Bank $205.66 on a note. William D. Albright, administrator, in his account, showed a balance of $1,351.65. This was approved and the balance ordered distributed.

The account of John M. Rannage, administrator of the estate of Anna Rannage, showing a balance of $2,946.81, was approved. Deceased died January 13, 1908.

The account of Elmer E. Boyd, administrator of the estate of Archibald Boyd, who died January 21, 1904, was approved. The administrator had made a cash contribution of $797.16 and the widow one of $500, to pay the debts. There was no balance.

In the estate of Perry Oaks, R. E. Hopwood was directed to expend $120 for stone markers for the graves of Perry Oaks, his mother, Hilda Oaks, and Harriet Hall. To the African Methodist Episcopal Church of Uniontown, $2,268.86 is directed to be paid. The account of Mr. Hopwood as executor was approved and the balance ordered to be distributed.

In the estate of Jesse W. Frost, of New Salem, Lloyd A. and James A. Frost, administrators, reported a balance of $3,279.12. It was ordered distributed. In the estate of William Nichols, late of Monish township, M. L. Fairchild, executor, reported a balance of $204.50 which was approved and ordered distributed.

MIKE BRILL CARRIES 1,045 IN HIS ELEVATOR

Mike Brill, elevator boy in the Title & Trust Company's building, kept a check on his passengers Saturday. The result of the count shows that Mike lifted or lowered 1,045 persons on that day.

Some persons he carried several times and the figures represent the number that entered the cage from the time Mike went on the job in the morning until he left at night.

Boring Tunnel Through the Mountains In the Vicinity of Mount Savage.

Special to The Courier.

MT. SAVAGE, Md., Nov. 7.—Work on the new extension of the Western Maryland railway is rapidly progressing toward Mount Savage and in a few weeks the steam shovels and dray engines will make their appearance from east and west and will be seen plowing through the old Knapp hill. At present there is one shovel at the Trimbly mine and another at Blodugh's farm, the distance being about two miles, the shovels working towards each other and will arrive in the town about the same time. A camp will be built on Mack's hill back of the Cumberland & Pennsylvania railroad depot, large enough to house the men who are working with both shovels.

At the west end of the town a hill of 70 feet in depth will be made and at the east end a smaller hill will be made, crossing the ravine that divides Mack's hill from the great Piney Mountain. An extensive yard will be built on the Mountain farm, which joins the Blodugh property. While the site for the Mount Savage depot has not been decided on the probabilities are that it will be built on the Trimbly farm, near Lewis Baker's residence, on the Great Sav-

B. & O. IMPROVEMENTS ON THE FAIRMONT BRANCH

Work Has Been Started on New Plans Between Evans and Uniontown.

Improvements to increase their facilities around Uniontown were launched by the B. & O. railroad Friday morning, when 30 or 40 men were put to work to lay an additional track and make double track between Oliver Junction and Lemont.

Work will also be pushed to build a telegraph office at the lower end of the radiator works, where the telegraph operator will be transferred from the station. Another telegraph office has been built at Evans and is now in use.

The water tank and sand house will also be moved outside of Uniontown. This decision resulted from the complaint made by the borough council regarding the shrill whistling of trains at night, the troublesome smoke and blocking of the North Gallatin avenue crossing. Moving of the water tank will eliminate the necessity of trains stopping in the borough to take water.

These improvements will require extensive work and it will probably take two months or more to complete it. Supervisor B. F. Hanna is in charge and was personally directing the start and making an inspection of the railroad grounds in Uniontown and vicinity Friday morning.

There is already double track between Mt. Braddock and Connellsville and now with the additional stretch between Oliver Junction and Lemont there will not be very much single track left between Uniontown and Connellsville.

AUTO HITS WAGON

One Dead; Two Fatally Injured at Youngstown.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 7.—One man is dead and two others may die as a result of a collision when an automobile hit a delivery wagon.

Philip Campbell, eighteen years old, was killed.

The injured are: Walter Black, skull crushed and internally injured, may die; Elmer Brunton, back injured and probably hurt internally, may die.

Charles Harris, Jr., was driving the machine, which contained four persons, when it collided with a delivery wagon owned by William Gaiteen, a grocer, and driven by Brunton. Brunton and Campbell, riding on the wagon, were thrown out, as were the occupants of the automobile. Black was the only automobile occupant who was injured seriously.

Climate Failed— Medicine Cured.

It has been abundantly shown that fresh air, and good food do help many persons suffering from tuberculosis. But to be really honest, it must admitted that the disease can do more than "arrested." Something more is needed.

Eckman's Alternative is a medicine made for the cure of Tuberculosis. It has cured this disease again and again. Often these cures have been effected where the physicians have failed.

Intelligent care was taken of the patient, where money was scarce; good food and good clothing were provided.

Now, we urge and urge that Eckman's Alternative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis in addition to good food and fresh air, which we all need.

The facts—the evidence of cures that have been effected by Eckman's Alternative are as follows:—

WELDON, Ill.—Through Eckman's Alternative I have been saved from a painful grave, and feel that I am better.

CHARLES WEBB, of WELDON, Ill.—On December 14, 1904, I was taken with typhoid pneumonia. My lungs became filled with mucus and I could not breathe. I was delirious and delirious.

On February 21st, 1905, I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas, where I was given a change of air, a bath, and a change of diet. I began to improve and recovered as quickly as possible. I left Texas June 1st, and arrived in Canon City June 3rd, very feeble, after a long and difficult trip.

After a short stay in Canon City, I returned home, weighing 103 pounds, the doctor having told me no improvement reaching there alive.

On the 14th of July I began taking Eckman's Alternative. After a month of taking it, I began to improve, and the physician said I was well again.

On the 14th of August I began taking Eckman's Alternative again. I was advised to take it again because of my condition.

EDWARD GARRETT, colored, was arrested for disorderly conduct in Meadow Lane and drawing a knife at Mrs. Martin Jackson, also colored. He was given 72 hours by the burgess. Several other drunks of the common variety were sentenced at yesterday morning's session.

There were no prisoners for trial this morning. Two clerks were permitted to continue their search for work.

WHEN A MAN MARRIES

BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
AUTHOR OF THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE,
THE MAN IN LOWER TEN, ETC.

Copyright 1921 by the Author and her Company

"Drop something!" Dalas asked pointedly, rising. Flannigan was still half kneeling.

"A fork," I said, an easily as I could, and the conversation went on. But Flannigan knew, and I knew he knew. He watched my every movement like a hawk after that, standing just behind my chair. I dropped my useless napkin, to have it whirled up before it reached the floor. I said to Betty that my shop buckle was loose, and actually got the watch in my hand, only to let it slip at the critical moment. Then they all got up and went sadly back to the library, and Flannigan and I faced each other.

Flannigan was not a handsome man at any time, though up to then he had at least looked amiable. But now as I stood with my hand on the back of my chair, his face grew suddenly mummified. The silence was absolute; I was the guiltiest wretch alive, and opposite me the law towered and glowered, and held the yellow remnant of a pineapple chalice! And in the silence that wretched watch lay and ticked and ticked and ticked. Then Flannigan crooked over and closed the door into the hall, came back, picked up the watch, and looked at it.

"You're unlucky, I'm thinkin'," he said finally. "You've got the nerve all right, but you ain't cuts enough."

"I don't know what you mean," I answered. "Give me that watch to return to Mr. Harbinson."

"Not on your life," he retorted easily. "I give it back myself, like I'm going to give back the necklace, if you act like a sensible little girl."

I could only choke.

"It's foolish, any way you look at it," he persisted. "Here you are, lots of friends, folks that think you're all right. Why, I reckon there isn't one of them that wouldn't lend you money if you needed it so bad."

"Will you be still?" I said furiously.

"Mr. Harbinson left that watch—with me—an hour ago. Get him, and he will tell you who himself!"

"Of course he would," Flannigan conceded, looking at me with grudging approval. "He wouldn't do what I think he is, if he didn't lie up and down for you." There were voices in the hall. Flannigan came closer. "An hour ago, you say. And he told me it was gone this morning! It's a losing game, miss. I'll give you 24 hours and then—the necklace, if you please, ma'am."

CHAPTER XVII.

A Clash and a Kiss.

The clash that came that evening had been threatening for some time. Take an invincible body, represented by Mr. Harbinson and his square jaw, and an irresistible force, Jimmy and his weight, and there is bound to be trouble.

The real fault was Jim's. He had gone entirely mad again over Bella, and thrown prudence to the winds. He moaned at her across the dinner-table, and waylaid her on the stairs or in the back hall, just to hear her voice when she ordered him out of the way. He telephoned for flowers and candy for her quite shamelessly, and he got out a book of photographs that they had taken on their wedding journey, and kept it on the library table. The sole concession he made to our presumptive relationship was to bring me the responsibility for everything that went wrong, and his silents for buttons.

The first I heard of the trouble was from Dal. He waylaid me in the hall after dinner that night, and his face was serious.

"I'm afraid we can't keep it up very long, Kit," he said. "With Jim trailing Bella all over the house, and the old lady keener every day, it's bound to come out somehow. And that isn't all; Jim and Harbinson had a set-to today—about you."

"About me!" I repeated. "Oh, I dare say I have been falling short again. What was Jim doing? Abusing me?"

Dal looked cautiously over his shoulder, but no one was near.

"It seems that the tenth Bella has been unusually beautify today to Jim, and I believe she's jealous of you, Kit. Jim followed her up to the roof before dinner with a box of flowers, and she tossed them over the parapet. She said, I believe, that she didn't want his flowers; he could buy them for you, and he damned to him, or some lady-like equivalent."

"Jim is a jellyfish," I said contemptuously. "What did he say?"

"He said he only cared for one woman, and that was Bella; that he never had really cared for you and never would, and that divorce courts were not unmixed evil if they showed people the way to real happiness. Which wouldn't amount to anything if Harbinson had not been to the tent trying to sleep!"

Dal did not know all the particulars, but it seemed that relations between Jim and Mr. Harbinson were rather strained. Dal had left the roof and Jim and the Harbinson man came face to face in the door of the tent. According to Dal, Little had been said, but Jim, bound by his promise to me, could not explain, and could only stammer something about being an old friend of Miss Knowles. And Tom had replied shortly that it was none of his business, but that there were some things friendship hardly justified, and tried to pass Jim. Jim was instantly enraged. He blocked the door to the roof and demanded to know what the other man meant.

Bella Has Been Unusually Beautiful Today to Jim.

man's soft hat—Jim's I think—and went up to the roof.

It was dark in the third floor hall, and I had to feel my way to the foot of the stairs. I went up quietly and turned the knob of the door to the roof. At first it would not open, and I could hear the wind howling outside. Finally, however, I got the door open a little and wormed my way through. It was not entirely dark out there, in spite of the storm. A faint reflection of the street lights made it possible to distinguish the outlines of the boxwood plants, swaying in the wind, and the chimneys and the tent. And then—a dark figure disengaged itself from the nearest chimney and seemed to hurl itself at me. I remember putting out my hands and trying to say something, but the figure caught me roughly by the shoulders and knocked me flat against the door-frame. From without a heavy voice was saying, "No, I've got you!" and then the roar grew from under me, and I was flung out on the storm, and slept, was beaten in, my face, and the wind was whispering over and over. "Open your eyes, for God's sake!"

I did open them after a while, and finally I made out that I was lying on the floor in the tent. The lights were Foreign Governments Sending Representatives to Learn How Uncle Sam Raises the Finest Apples in the World.

WORLD'S LARGEST APPLE TREE AND PORTION OF EXHIBITION

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 7.—Think of 2,000,000 apples in one room and you will have a slight idea of what is in store for the visitors to the National Apple Growers' Association to be held in this city from Nov. 11 to 19. The product from what is claimed to be the largest apple tree in the world will occupy one section of the display room. England, Germany, France and even from Australia, representatives of governments are coming to learn how Uncle Sam raises such fine apples. Every State in the Union will also be represented as well as officials from the Department of Agriculture.

Prizes to the amount of $20,000 will be offered to the growers of the most perfect apples. One of the unique events will be a series of lectures on the value of eating apples as a cure for drinking. Eat apples every day, say some experts, and you will not want to care for whisky.

in this community. Drawing will take place on November 15. Don't fail to register. Costs nothing to take a chance. You don't have to buy anything to take a try.

Patrons out of town wishing to register, can have a registration ticket sent them free of charge. A request on a postal will bring it.

HIGH SCHOOL WARRIORS DOWN EAST LIBERTY ON SATURDAY.

Score Was 29 to 0 When Visitors' Substitutes Ran Out
'and Game Brought to a Close.

PLAYING WAS ROUGH AND HARD

East Liberty Line Started Handing Things Across the Arcach and the Locals Played Same Game.—Scott and Lardy Individual Stars.

Connellsville High School's goal line on the local field, at least, retains unassisted. The latest attempt to tarnish the pristine whiteness of that streak of chalk was the East Liberty Academy on Saturday. The effort failed miserably and while the visitors started out like winners, they quit the field with 9 minutes to play in the closing quarter, their regulars battered and substitutes exhausted.

"We were outclassed," says Coach Hargrave's terse comment on the outcome.

Outclassed is proper. The visitors did not have a look in for one little minute. In only one department was there an even break and that was in punting. Egbert proved the equal of Scott in booting the oval, and he never missed a chance to put heat and driven home his kicks, which sent the ball far into Connellsville's territory each time, only to be brought back again by the terrific line buckling or sensational end runs.

With Moser on the side line and Art Buttermore suffering from boils, it was necessary to send Marshall in at quarter. Moser's absence was a big loss; it was an important cog out of an otherwise perfect machine. Marshall did well, but he does not possess either the good generalship or the ability of Moser. He was game to the core, and this gameness condones for several errors of commission or omission. It was Marshall's fumble on East Liberty's 10 yard line that lost a touchdown in the first quarter and had judgment in attempting a forward pass when within striking distance of the goal that lost another in the same quarter. After each miss Egbert's toe booted the ball out of danger and the grueling work of forcing the ball up field started once again.

In the second half East Liberty was both crippled and weakened and there were frequently penalties for unnecessary roughness. These were inflicted in Connellsville as Umpire Shimmons did not see East Liberty's offenses so clearly. Several East Liberty players attempted to trip the Connellsville runners, so nothing succeeded and always got away with it.

Scott Wins Toss.

Captain Scott won the toss and chose to defend the east field. Egbert booted the ball into Lardy's hands and it was run back 10 yards before the runner was downed. Scott then carried it through for 20 yards but the locals were twice held with no gains. Scott then booted 70 yards with the wind. Egbert returned with a 20 yard punt. East Liberty recovered the ball and was forced to kick once more. This kick was blocked by one of Egbert's own men. Connellsville recovered the ball and then began plunging through the East Liberty line for a succession of gains. Scott tore around the end for a gain and Munk made 15 yards. Then came Marshall's disastrous fumble and Egbert kicked out of danger. Lardy ran the kick back 50 yards. Munk then gained five yards and Scott a bare two. Connellsville was held for downs. Egbert's kick was blocked and it was Connellsville's ball on East Liberty's 26 yard line. Munk slipped through the line for a first down; then Scott circled the left end for 15 yards. At this point a foolish forward pass by about 200 spectators and there were scores of converts to the game as a consequence. Between 20 and 25 ladies were present and were even more interested than the men.

When Brown threw the first basket of the game, giving the Armory boys 2 points, there was decided interest on the part of the Armory rooters. Then the Kokers got busy and rolled up a score of 55. The best the Armory could do after that was to throw a lonely foul.

In the second half the Armory boys made three field goals but the Kokers ran the score up to 159. The score: Kokers 159, Armory 2.

CHIP AND SIMPSON

Training Hard for Bout at Greensburg
Next Monday.

Physical fitness will not be lacking on either side when George Chip and Battling Simpson come together in their 15 round battle next Monday night at the new Armory hall in Greensburg. Both men are training harder for this event than for any other in which they ever engaged. The preliminary bill is also rich in promise of fat and grueling action. Promoter Fred Kelley appealing to have exercised rare judgment in matching Young Dutley with Roy Miller, Eddie McCloskey with Young Tony Ross and "Irish" McClain with Young Hammie. Ivory bout is likely to be hard fought.

J. M. LEITHHEAD COMES TO TOWN.

President of the Central Basket Ball League Here Yesterday:

PLEASED WITH PROSPECTS

Believe Present Season Will Be Best
Ever—Cautions Fans and Others to Be Moderate in Their Enthusiasm.
Tickets Sold Tomorrow.

President Joseph M. Leithhead of the Central Basketball League was in town yesterday afternoon for a long conference with the local officials. Mr. Leithhead has now visited all the towns on the circuit and has everything ready for the tap of the gong this evening.

President Leithhead is handing out good advice to fans, players, officials and scribes around the circuit. "Be moderate," he says. It is probably violating no confidence to state that the executive laid exceptional stress on that advice when he had the ear of a certain Uniontown sporting writer who has a penchant for blaming everything on the referee.

"I wish the newspaper men on the circuit would cooperate with me in this repeat," Mr. Leithhead said yesterday. "Rowdy playing will not be tolerated and rowdy fans should not be encouraged. Last season we were very successful in this respect and this year I want to do even better."

"I know the referees are not perfect; they are like baseballumpires—sure to make some mistake or other. Give them the benefit of a human error and don't criticize them unless there are just grounds for it. For the benefit of the league managers around the circuit who will likely make complaints against referee, I will say that any man they recommend for a job as referee will be given a trial."

"We have raised basketball to a high plane now; it is patronized by the best people in the communities where teams are located. For that reason I want to make it plain to every player every manager and every fan that no rowdiness will be tolerated."

"I have heard only good words of the Connellsville fans and I am not singling out Connellsville. As some of your patrons here may not thoroughly understand the game I just wish to caution them against letting their enthusiasm get the better of them."

The Central league season opens tonight with Connellsville playing at McKeever and South Side at Uniontown. The Cokers have four games this week: Monday at McKeever, Wednesday here with Uniontown, Friday with South Side and Saturday at Johnston. Rather a strenuous week's work cut out for Kokers.

Tickets will be placed on sale tomorrow at 11 o'clock at Graham & Company's drug store where reserved seats may be secured for the opening game. Tickets will always be placed on sale the day before a home game.

It is expected that several hundred of the fair sex will attend the opening game. Basketball is essentially a woman's game, because it is so easily understood.

The fair fair who attend baseball games go for season, after seven and never learn the intricate details of that sport. On the other hand, a few trips to basketball games and the sport is like an open book. It is exciting, too, and full of interest.

Rowdiness is not permitted nor is smoking in the hall.

Outranging fans are likely to be quickly ejected because the rules of the league make the management liable to a $50 fine for permitting any spectator to interfere with or abuse a player; or to set any way disorderly.

Since the percentage of the game in all the cities in the circuit is drawn from the best class of people, this fine has never yet been inflicted.

A city league of basketball teams will be organized here during the winter and will play preliminary games before the big contest. The preliminary will start in sufficient time to allow the big game to be called promptly at 3:30. Incidentally, the Y. M. C. A. boys are hankering for a chance against the Armory quintet and this contest will be arranged in the near future.

The Y. M. C. A. lost 128 to 18 last week while the Armory was trounced 159 to 9. In spite of this the Armory boys say they have a good chance to win the Y. M. C. A. quintet.

It is expected that several fans will accompany the team to McKeever for the opening game this evening.

The Housewife of Today Must Watch Expenses Very Closely.

In these modern times, when the high cost of living makes strict economy necessary even for well-to-do people, good housekeeping involves something more than keeping the house tidy and serving palatable meals. To make both ends meet, the housekeeper of today must watch expenses very closely. Many ladies in Connellsville have solved the problem of keeping an accurate record of household expenditures by having a checkbook account with the First National Bank; they pay all bills by check, and therefore, have a record of and a receipt for every item of expense. The First National cordially invites the accounts of women and has a special department for their exclusive use.

New York Purchase Suit Sale

Even to us, used as we are to our special offerings bringing enthusiastic buyers, this sale is a surprise. It's a marvel. There's a reason. Suits offered in ordinary sales compare no better to these Suits than a chromo does with a genuine painting.

High grade is plainly stamped on every suit we offer.

$11.75 Buys Women's Suits Worth Almost Double.

Approved conservative models or dashing creations, worth ordinarily nearly twice what we ask—$11.75 buys suits that, under regular conditions the price wouldn't pay for the tailoring alone. Nobby fall colors, good ever-wearing fabrics, properly tailored from blocked shoulders to skirt flare. Ideal suits for rugged wear and a model becoming to every figure.

Every woman who is a judge of women's suits (and very few are not) will quickly recognize the opportunities of this remarkable and unusual sale.

Sweaters to Keep the Little Folks Warm

Plenty of sizes in wool sweaters that button close about the neck, and many that button lower. All one color, or with touches of contrast.

HAVANA TO KEY WEST

Aviators May Attempt Flight, For Which $5,000 Prize Is Offered.

Havana, Nov. 7.—Mr. Brice, manager for Glenn Curtiss, is here making arrangements for an aviation meeting in which Curtiss, Mars and Ely will take part.

The now 100 candle power tungsten lights that have been installed in the West Side auditorium makes the playing floor light as day. The floor has also been roughed, giving the players a secure footing. It is expected a capacity audience will witness the opening game.

Captain Kummer has announced he will play Doyle in center until a regular man is signed. Doyle has shown up well in the exhibition games and will hold his own with the other centers. In the league it is noted out that the Connellsville team is in as good form as any team in the league and none of the players has shown any signs of getting back. That is more than can be said of some of the stars of the circuit. All the towns are looking for Connellsville to make trouble for their pennant aspirations and the orange jerseys should do well to the fore when the season closes.

For the benefit of the fans who have not kept posted in the game, below is appended the standing of the clubs at the close of last season:

McKeever 49 21 .700

Johnstown 16 21 .675

Greensburg 37 31 .590

Remedies are Needed

We are perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glycerine compound, extracted from native medicine, sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.
